SAFE SPLASH-DOWN

The House Ways and Means Committee added sufficient funds to their version of the General Appropriations Act to increase State Aid to Public Libraries in 1972-73 to 25¢ per capita. This is a 5¢ increase over the present State Aid level. The Appropriation Bill is now in the hands of the Senate Finance Committee which should report the Bill out sometime during the first two weeks in May. The amount recommended by the House is expected to remain in the Senate Finance Committee's version of the Appropriation Bill which will go a long way to insure the increase in State Aid for the coming fiscal year.

Librarians and trustees who have worked for this increase in State Aid should be alert to Senate developments and prompt to thank House members for their help in securing the increase in the House Bill.

THE PUBLIC LIBRARY'S DAY IN COURT

All interested librarians and trustees are cordially invited to attend the one-day spring workshop of the Public Library Section on Wednesday, May 24, from 9:30 a. m. to 3:30 p. m. The meeting will be held at the Town House on Gervais Street in Columbia. The objective of the workshop is to provide an opportunity for public librarians to give their critical attention to two important ideas which are altering the public library as that institution has been traditionally known. To make this presentation and the debate more dramatic, the program will take the format of a courtroom trial. Advocates will present the pros and cons of each issue, calling in witnesses to support their case. Librarians arguing the conservative and liberal sides of each of the two issues include Betty Callaham vs. Warren Lloyd and Alice Nolte vs. Catherine Lewis. Mr. F. William Summers, Assistant Dean of USC's new Graduate Library School, will serve as Judge Advocate. The audience will be allowed to ask questions at the conclusion of each presentation; and at the end of the day, everyone will vote on each of the issues.

Also planned for the day is a luncheon at the Town House.

"OSCARS" FOR LIBRARIANS

Ladies in mink coats and Cadillacs could not have been prouder than the staff of the Darlington County bookmobile last week on a visit to Ruby in Chesterfield County. Thirty-five school children were waiting for them at the stop and immediately surrounded bookmobile and librarians enthusiastically chanting the verses quoted below:

"There are buses and trucks called bookmobiles;
They're just like libraries--only on wheels!
You climb into a big front door,
And there are shelves with books galore,
You walk up and down the aisle to look,
And you can find most any book,
There are stories on cowboys and astronauts, too,
And about every animal found in the zoo.
There are books on games and things to make,
And even, I guess, how to bake a cake.
There are just-pretend stories and some that are real;
Oh, a wonderful place is the bookmobile!"

by Peg Landsman

The Chesterfield County Library Board has contracted with the Darlington County Library to provide service from the Darlington bookmobile to rural communities in Chesterfield County. From the beginning this has been a successful project due to the wholehearted enthusiasm of the two county librarians concerned, Colonel E. B. Stevenson of Chesterfield County and Mr. Warren Lloyd of Darlington County.

PRESIDENT RECOMMENDS LIBRARY BUDGET CUT NEXT YEAR

President Nixon has recommended a national budget cut for libraries next year (Fiscal 1972/73). This would mean a reduction of total operational library funds for all states from the present amount of $46,568,500 to $30,000,000 (Title I, LSCA), and a complete cancellation of public library construction funds (Title II). South Carolina received $153,022 in Title II funds during Fiscal 1971/72. South Carolina's estimated allotment would be cut in Title I from the current amount of $652,431 to $444,255--a 31.9% cut.

PRESIDENT NIXON'S STATEMENT LAUNCHING NATIONAL LIBRARY WEEK (April 16-22)

* * * *

THE WHITE HOUSE

Washington

Libraries form the nucleus of our public information system. Their resources are among the most effective deterrents to poverty, ignorance and prejudice. Their services are basic to the education and general self-improvement of all our citizens.

It is especially appropriate that the 1972 observance of National Library Week coincides with International Book Year which joins the United States with other nations of the world in an endeavor that will directly benefit all peoples.

I urge all Americans to recognize and support our libraries as vital centers for the preservation of the right to read, the right to learn and the right to know;* and I encourage close cooperation with people of other lands, who share our own deeply rooted conviction that libraries contribute greatly to a well-informed citizenry and to true and enduring national progress.

(Signed) Richard Nixon

* * * *

*Editor's note: Reconcile this, if you can, with the recommended appropriation for LSCA--a whopping cut in funds for Title I and no funds at all for Title II, Construction QED.

* * * *

The McCain Library at Erskine College has received a large collection of materials on the college's history from Miss Clara Bonner and the estate of Miss Martha Bonner, both of Due West.

The Greenville County Library has employed three professional librarians who will be coming to replace two vacancies and to fill one new position. Mrs. Mary S. Barber replaces Mrs. Betty Corriher, Mr. Bruce Robinson replaces Mrs. Judith Ham and Miss Patricia Smith will be the new Regional Reference Librarian.

NAVY LIBRARIANS IN CONFERENCE

A Library Management Conference was held in Cochrane Hall on the Naval Station, Charleston from April 24 through April 26, 1972.

The three-day training workshop was jointly sponsored by the Education and Training Support Detachments, Charleston, South Carolina and Norfolk, Virginia. The conference was designed to acquaint Navy and Marine Corps librarians with changes and functions in the Navy General Library Program since the establishment of the Naval Training Support Command in August 1971. The theme of the conference was "Navy Libraries: Change and Challenge."

The conference attracted more than fifty Navy and Marine Corps librarians from commands and activities served by the Charleston and Norfolk Detachments, which include the Fifth, Sixth, Eighth, Tenth and Fifteenth Naval Districts.

A special conference on Shipboard Library Management was held for Library Officers from ships homeported in the Charleston area. A major topic of the conference agenda was a discussion of the Navy's pilot program on the use of multimedia materials in libraries afloat being conducted aboard USS Yosemite homeported in Mayport, Florida.

Estellene P. Walker and Betty E. Callaham, both of the South Carolina State Library, represented the state at a regional meeting of the Statewide Library Planning and Evaluation Institute in Washington, D. C.

To support requests for federal funds under the Library Services and Construction Act, South Carolina is required to submit by July 1, 1972, a five-year program for public and institutional library development within the state. The institute, created by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, was formed to offer guidance to state librarians in the preparation of these detailed long-range plans.

South Carolina's five-year plan will evaluate present library service, project the state's growth of library services and determine the additional personnel, materials and resources needed to adequately meet this anticipated growth.

ALA IN CHICAGO

Norman Cousins, editor of World Review and former editor of Saturday Review will be the keynote speaker at the General Session, Tuesday, June 27, of the 91st Annual Conference of the American Library Association (June 25-July 1).

This general session will set the stage for general consideration of the conference theme Media: Man, Material, Machine. Keith Doms, President of ALA and Director of the Free Library of Philadelphia, will preside.

AWARD WINNER

Mrs. Bernetha H. Flemming, Librarian at Crafts-Farrow State Hospital for the past five years, has been named Outstanding Employee of the Year by the South Carolina Department of Mental Health. Besides her librarian duties, Mrs. Flemming regularly visits the wards of the geriatric hospital which includes almost 3,000 persons. She arranges special programs for the deaf, blind and disabled.

LIBRARY AT WHITTEN VILLAGE

"The circus is coming. The circus is coming." This short phrase is enough to stir the imagination of almost all school age children. But what of the children who do not know what a circus is; the children who have no conception of an elephant or a lion? These are the children who are residents of Whitten Village, a school for the mentally retarded in Clinton, South Carolina. The librarian, Mr. Hsiu-Yun Keng, is making an effort to help these children understand through imaginative use of book talks, displays and fliers. A circus recently visited the campus. To prepare the students, the library was decorated in a circus motif, book talks with filmstrips were about the circus and circus animals. After the book talks the students were given a flier depicting the theme of that particular story to reinforce the child's grasp of the story.

These and other programs make the library at Whitten Village not just a room of books, but a vital and necessary force in the total educational structure.

EQUAL RIGHTS FOR WOMEN

Senator Strom Thurmond of South Carolina was a co-author of the Equal Rights for Women Amendment which was passed by the United States Congress. The Amendment met with overwhelming approval in both House and Senate, and received strong support from both conservatives and liberals.

The Amendment has been introduced in the South Carolina General Assembly and has passed the House but at this point is in the Judiciary Committee of the Senate. This committee has been the graveyard for many bills, but it is hoped that support of the Amendment is strong enough to bring it out for a vote and enactment during this session of the General Assembly.

Those opposed to ratifying the Amendment are saying that they wish to protect the ladies from military service: no one is saying that ladies should be protected from paying their full share of the federal income tax! If the Army needs protection from the ladies, let them look to their muskets.

The Junior Woman's Club of Aiken has taken as a project the regular preparation of the County Library's bulletin boards.

RECOGNITION DAY IN GREENWOOD

The Greenwood Kiwanis Club on Friday, April 7, held a special recognition day program. Miss Elizabeth Porcher, recently retired as Librarian of the Abbeville-Greenwood Regional Library, was guest of honor for the occasion.

The Greenwood Kiwanis Club since 1928 has lent its full strength to the extension and improvement of public library service in Greenwood County. In 1928 they fully equipped the children's department and supported the department for five years until the library itself was able to assume responsibility. Since that time the club has continued its support purchasing equipment and supplying funds for special materials.

DISTINGUISHED AUTHOR AT MARION

Dr. Robert D. Bass, one of the nation's leading scholars of the American Revolutionary period, was present at the headquarters of the Marion County Library on April 13 and 14 to autograph copies of his book, "Swamp Fox: The Life and Campaigns of General Francis Marion."

Dr. Bass retired last year after a long and fruitful academic and writing career and he and his wife now reside in Marion.

The autograph party for Dr. Bass was one of the events in the tour of historic homes, public buildings and gardens sponsored by the Marion County Historical Society. The Marion County Library building was one of the four public buildings shown to visitors.

ACTIVITY IN GREENVILLE COUNTY

Featured in the South Carolina Historical Room for April was a display depicting travel in this hemisphere. Each exhibit case represented a country either in South America, Central America or Canada. Travel brochures were available for distribution from the different countries.

There were two meetings of the Library Stay-at-Home tour during the month--one on Amsterdam which attracted 83 people and one on Rome which attracted 75.

The Greenville Piedmont called the community's attention to a valuable file compiled by Mrs. Kenneth Stannard. The file is a directory of Greenville churches.

A teenage column in the Greenville News devoted to activities of the young adult department of the library brought in an overflow crowd of young people for the movie "1984." Over 220 young people attended the showing of the film which was held in the Thomas F. Parker Auditorium of the main library.

RECEPTION IN WASHINGTON

The Honorable Ernest F. Hollings, Senator from South Carolina, held a press reception for the new publication "Afro-American Art and Craft" by Judith Wragg Chase on Thursday, April 13 in the Old Senate Office building in Washington. In addition to the press, prominent librarians, library trustees and writers in the Washington area were invited.

Mrs. Judith Wragg Chase, in addition to being a well-known author, is a museum curator, and an artist and lecturer.

ABBE ANNUAL REPORT

An interesting annual report covering the activities of the ABBE Regional Library for 1970-71 was recently received by the State Library. The report is one of continued progress in extending and improving public library service throughout the entire region. The report is well organized and attractively illustrated with photographs of the various branch and county headquarters buildings in the system.

FLIERS FOR PHYSICALLY HANDICAPPED

A flier entitled "Open a New World for Someone Who Cannot Hold a Book" was recently distributed to the county libraries. This flier is aimed at the reader who is physically handicapped, who is often unaware of the special library services for him. Libraries are urged to use imaginative means in distributing them. Some possibilities would be to have grocery stores, service stations, churches, or clinics aid in their distribution. If this is not possible, libraries are urged to help by giving them out to their patrons.

BETTY Q.

Mrs. Betty Q. Onley, Business Manager of the South Carolina State Library, has been nominated by the State Library for the Outstanding State Employee Award for 1972.

A native of Wagener, South Carolina, Mrs. Onley has twenty-four years service as a state employee first with the Forestry Commission and since 1959 with the State Library.

Active in the South Carolina State Employees Association, Mrs. Onley has also been active as a Jaycette, as well as a member of the Planning and Zoning Commission of Arcadia Lakes.

A member of Bethel United Methodist Church, Mrs. Onley is the mother of two teenage children and resides with her husband at 6704 Arcadia Lake Lane in Columbia.

RCPL IN FIESTA '72

The Richland County Public Library in cooperation with the library services of Richland School District 1 participated in Fiesta '72, a program sponsored by the Garden Council of Greater Columbia and art groups of Columbia with the cooperation of the South Carolina Arts Commission and the National Endowment of Art. Fiesta '72 took place on Senate Street on April 15 and 16 with the bookmobile parked on Main Street April 14.

The library exhibit featured the bookmobile with displays showing various library services and materials: reference, recordings, periodicals, talking books and books on all aspects of Fiesta events.

In the adjacent library tent there were more displays, slides of art prints available for circulation, new books, and children's materials. Mrs. Dorothy Metz demonstrated the making of puppets and children visiting the exhibit were invited to play with puppets and create their own shows. Storytellers told the children favorite stories.

Smokey the Bear from the South Carolina Commission of Forestry and Snoopy were special guests.

SUMTER TEC

The Sumter Area TEC Library held an open house for faculty and staff on Tuesday, April 18, from 3:00 until 5:00 p.m. New books, filmstrips, equipment, records, paperbacks, and magazines were on display for the faculty to preview.

Local biologist and TEC faculty member J. Reece Taylor exhibited a collection of rare insects from Thailand and the United States.

Mrs. Helen Fellers is Librarian at Sumter TEC.

NATIONAL LIBRARY WEEK IN NEWBERRY

The Newberry-Saluda Regional Library sponsored an arts and crafts exhibit during National Library Week. "The Boozers Present..." contained oils, pastels, batiks, ceramics (hand built and wheel thrown), wire sculpture, and tapestry, all original creations of Genell and T. Blair Boozer of Newberry. National Library Week was also "free return" week for overdue books.

The Friends of the Barnwell County Library are presenting their annual local art show during National Library Week--April 16 through 22.

STAFF ASSISTANTS FOR DISADVANTAGED PROGRAMS

Horry County Library: Janet L. Ellis, State University of New York, Geneseo, New York. April 1, 1972.

Beaufort County Library: Grace Lovell, University of Indiana. Will begin in May, 1972.

Previously employed by ABBE: Carlyle Cross, Florida State University. December, 1971.

STORY CARAVAN ON THE ROAD

In April the Spartanburg story caravan made 57 scheduled stops at 14 locations and conducted 100 story-telling sessions. 1,155 children participated in the programs. 363 books and 12 mini-masters were borrowed by the teachers of the daycare centers for classroom use.

At a recent display of Spartanburg Model City activities in Washington, Under Secretary Hyde asked that Mayor Stoddard send him a complete description of the story caravan, its funding, design, operation and its accomplishments to date.

SCHOOL LIBRARY HOURS

Teachers would like to change the school library hours, according to a study conducted by the NEA Research Division. Six teachers in ten think school libraries should be open before school, and seven in ten feel they should be open after school. Only three in ten report their libraries are open at either of these times. (From Phi Delta Kappan, May, 1971).

PROGRAM FOR AAUW

Miss Josephine Crouch, Regional Library Director, and Mrs. James Lackey, Aiken County Librarian, recently presented an American Association of University Women's program, "Discussion and Film Forum." Featured was audio-visual material acquired through gifts to the library. Two films were shown--"Cry of the Marsh," on wildlife conservation, and a Walt Disney production on mental health titled "Understanding Stresses and Strains."

Mrs. Rowena S. Sadler, a former school librarian, has been appointed assistant executive secretary of the American Association of School Libraries. Mrs. Sadler will be in charge of the AASL Washington office.

For the past two years she was assistant project officer at the ALA International Relations Office in Washington.

Miss Sadler is a graduate of Mills College and received a B. S. degree in Library Science from Catholic University.

NEWS FROM THE RICHLAND COUNTY PUBLIC LIBRARY

Standard Savings and Loan Association has given 10,000 bookbags to the Richland County Public Library. These bags are a great service to the library and this is the tenth year that Standard Savings has made this generous gift.

The Children's Department of the Richland County Public Library will have a special exhibit "Children's Books on Africa" from May 5 through May 18. This display is from the Information Center on Children's Culture (a service of the United States Committee for UNICEF). Only twelve libraries in the United States will have this exhibit.

Jean Lee Latham, Newbery award winner, presented a special storytime at the Richland County Public Library on Saturday, April 29th. Miss Latham presented some of her Tell-Together stories to children aged four through eight.

S. C. CANDIDATES FOR ALA COUNCILOR

Josephine Crouch is the Director of the Aiken-Bamberg-Barnwell-Edgefield Regional Library. A native of Hereford, Texas, she holds a bachelor's degree from Georgia College and a master's degree from Peabody Library School, George Peabody College. Miss Crouch has held the position of President and Vice-President of the South Carolina Library Association, and Federal Relations Coordinator (ALA) SCLA.

Jane E. Wright is Associate Professor at Furman University, Greenville, South Carolina. A native of Anderson, South Carolina, she holds an A. B. in mathematics from Winthrop College, Rock Hill, South Carolina; a B. S. in Library Science from the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, North Carolina; and a masters degree from Columbia University, New York, New York. She has held the position of Treasurer of the South Carolina Library Association.

The North Augusta-Belvedere organization, Good Nabors Club, has presented the North Augusta Branch Library with $150 to be applied toward the purchase of a copying machine.

STORAGE OF MICROFICHE

If your library is faced with storing pieces of microfiche without accompanying envelopes, you will be interested in an advertisement received recently from National Cash Register. Orders are accepted for 1000 or more envelopes at $7.00 per thousand for Style A (4" x 6") and Style B (3" x 5"). The address is NCR/Microcard Editions, 901 Twenty-Sixth Street, N. W., Washington, D. C. 20037.

NCR envelopes are much more satisfactory than those currently being used for ERIC microfiche as issued by Leasco.

If the microfiche you are planning to store has been supplied by the State Library from ERIC, remember that we have the original copy so that you will not need to retain the duplicate.

FOR RARE BOOK BUFFS

The Restoration of Leather Bindings by Bernard C. Middleton. (1972) $10.00. ALA (LTP Publication No. 18).

This volume, by an internationally known book restorer, bookbinder, and historian of bookbinding techniques, describes the techniques for removing and replacing old leather spines, rebacking, repairing inner and outer joints, restoring missing or damaged corners, repairing damaged cover boards, staining and tooling leather, and every other aspect of the repair and restoration of the bindings of books bound, or partially bound, in leather. Each step in the restoration process is described in detail, and the book is fully illustrated with photographs and with line drawings by the noted illustrator, Aldren A. Watson.

THE NATIONAL GALLERY OF ART--RIGHT IN YOUR OWN LIBRARY

The National Gallery of Art through its Extension Service has developed a wide range of educational materials to make its collections available to the many people across the country who do not have an opportunity to visit the Gallery. Color slide lectures with recordings, 16mm films, special publications, and traveling exhibits are available to any library, school, college, university, museum, or community group free of charge except for transportation costs. For a complete catalog, write to: Publications Fund, National Gallery of Art, Washington, D. C. 20565.

CONFLICT IN THE HOLY CITY?

"I thank thee, Lord, on bended knee
I'm half Porcher and half Huger.

"I thank thee, Lord, on bended knee
I'm not half Porcher nor half Huger.

With holy pride my heart doth beat,
I live at nineteen Lamboll Street,
With grateful tears my eyes are wet,
My uncle's J. Le, Boutillier Rhett.

With holy pride my heart doth beat,
That I don't live on Lamboll Street.
With grateful tears my eyes are wet
That I'm not kin to any RHETT.

For other blessings thank thee, too--
My grandma was a Petigru;
Simons and Waring and Legaré
Appear upon my family tree.

For other blessings thank thee, too
My grandma was no Petigru;
Simons and Waring and Legaré,
Don't adorn my family tree.

Dear Lord, look down on those in pity
Who dwell outside the Holy City.
And when I die, save me from hell--
I go to church at St. Mich-a-el--"

My grandma by the name of Brown,
Was born on some street way up town;
My dad was Smith of lowly rank
Who lost money in the Peoples' Bank.

Dear Lord, look down on those in pity,
Who think this is the only city
And when I die, save me from hell;
So I won't meet the elite of St. Mich-a-el!"

(Found among the papers of an octogenarian historian and reprinted to enliven this issue.)

NEED HELP IN YOUR PROJECT

A consulting service for librarians interested in starting or improving library programs for the disadvantaged will be offered at the 1972 Annual Conference of the American Library Association in Chicago. The ALA Office for Library Service to the Disadvantaged will provide this service, using consultants with specific knowledge and experience in serving the needs of the disadvantaged target groups. These target groups are Black-Urban and Rural; American Indian-Urban and Rural; Spanish Speaking-Urban; Puerto Ricans; Mexican-American; Mexican-American Rural; Mi-grants; Aging; and White-Urban and Rural.

The consulting service will be available on Monday, June 26; Wednesday, June 28; and Thursday, June 29; hours will be from 9:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m. each day. The time slots will be allocated to consultations on one of the specific target groups.

All who wish to make appointments should write or telephone as soon as possible to Ira Phillips, Coordinator, Office for Library Service to the Disadvantaged, American Library Association, indicating specific target groups and time and day desired. There will be no charge for this service.

FILM SERIES IN EASLEY

The Easley Friends of the Library, in cooperation with the Pickens County Library will sponsor a monthly film series.

The first film, "The World of TWA--England and Scotland" will be shown at 8:00 p. m. on May 19 in the main library in Easley. The next film will be "The World of TWA--Spain", to be shown on June 5.

Similar programs have been very successful in Greenville and Laurens counties. Plans are being made to continue the film series if it is well received in Easley. Films on France, Switzerland, Germany, Greece, the Bahamas and Israel have been ordered. Admission is free to the public.
